

LangChain is an open-source framework and orchestration library that makes it easier to build applications using Large Language Models (LLMs) like GPT-4, Gemini, or Claude.

It acts as the "connective plumbing" between a raw AI model and external data sources, memory, and tools, allowing developers to build complex AI agents.